From the Editor.....

I hope you have enjoyed archery during the past several months. This issue of the Arrow Hound is full of articles & photos of archery tournaments and miscellaneous archery events such as 12 year old Marcus Draves' 26 pound carp he shot with his bow. He earned the Big Fish Contest Award and it was presented to him the ISAA 3-D Championship at Waverly.

This has been a busy summer for me and trying to finish up the Arrow Hound has beed tedius to say the least. I hope all of you enjoy hunting this fall and please do send in your photos & hunting stories! The Pro Am website will be opening up soon for registration for January's shoot. Have fun practicing your indoor targets and hope to see you all soon! Barb Sharp

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Hello Archers,

We've had really good turnouts for our shoots this year. Now, it's time to enjoy the rest of the summer, and, prepare for the hunting and the upcoming indoor season.

I am stepping down as president, and, thank you all for the opportunity to serve you. It's been a privilege to serve with the rest of the board and officers. As Diana Deaton takes office, I trust you will work as well as with her as you have with me. I believe Diana will do a great job for our organization. Best of luck to all and I'll see you at the shoots.

Sincerely, Ron Teufel, ISAA President

Jerry Quibell of Waverly, Iowa, shot the State Field Shoot in 1985 with a foursome including himself, Dean Pridgen, Tom Dorigatti and Eugene Simerson in the Men's Freestyle Division. Jerry was so proud to beat Dean Pridgen in the animal round he saved all the score cards of his group from that day. He came to our field shoot on July 13 and presented these 25 year old score cards showing his perfect animal round so he could collect his long deserved Perfect Animal Pin and his Robin hood pen. Jerry says he had a lot of fun shooting with Dean Pridgen and the rest of the guys and Jerry thinks that Dean Pridgen was 1# in the State in 1985. Jerry is now 73 and had to give up shooting in 1999 because of a bad shoulder. Since then Jerry has had a stroke and can't return to shooting. Jerry said he had been shooting for 40 years prior to 1999 and says he made a lot of friends and had a lot of fun during his archery career.

Hunter Jackson

Karol Swank provided this information and said Hunter Jackson is a close friend of ISAA member Bridger Deaton and they met through a national archery tournament. Rumor has it that Hunter uses a Swank Kustom Kwiver and the release pouch that matches her quiver is personalized with her name "Hunter" on it. This is a great story and she does not use "trash talk".

(By: Vic Faust, Brighton, Mich. (WXYZ) - 15-year-old Hunter Jackson wants to become a world champion in Archery and she is well on her way. She recently earned a silver medal in the Junior Womens World Championship in Hungary, placed first in the world trials and has won a spot on the USA Olympic development team. The Sophomore to be at Waterford Kettering High School is beating young women as old as twenty. However, she is finding out that the price of success is pretty steep. Hunter says, " I practice all the time, give up friends and parties so I can practice."

Her Father, who is also one of her coaches, says he gave Hunter a bow when she was five and Hunter never looked back. "Her success has been amazing! 'The people in Europe couldn't believe that this little girl went over there and beat there champion from Italy, their idol." Hunter shoots between 200 and 400 arrows a day in hopes of becoming a world champion and making the 2016 Olympics in Rio De Janeiro. It is no secret why she feels she is good, she puts in 12 hour days sometimes hoping to perfect her skills.

Hunter turns 16 in March but as much as she looks forward to getting her driving license, she dreams of becoming th best female archer in the world.)

5 Ways to Guarantee More Accuracy – By Jim Hunt

The first way to gain more accuracy is buy an arrow puller. Now you may think I'm wrong on this, but just take a minute to stand behind someone pulling arrows at league next time and notice them bending, with their hand strength, the shaft then slowly pulling while their hand slides down the shaft. I always wondered why my arrows bent by the fletching? Well guess where your hand stops…

The second way is learn your bow. The others day we were shooting at the club when a member commented that all his yardage marks were off. The short ones were OK, but the longer marks were short. It had been hot much of the after noon and I commented that I thought his buss cables had stretched (longer buss= shorter draw and less pounds). I thought he needed to just gain velocity and he could twist his buss cables or increase the pounds and that would fix it. This is very common during the summer when shooting conditions can be very hot, and I've had it happen while shooting and you need to know what change to make. I know on my set up a half turn on a limb bolt will move my long yard marks a yard or half a bulls eye width.

The third way is a very hard concept to me, and probably you as well. You need to develop the patients to aim. All the top shooters can aim with out judgment (i.e. my pin is moving out low, I need to hurry). Plus they can do this almost to the end of time and wait for the arrow to break free. Reo commented at Yankton that you just wait and pull when it's in the middle. Now in a 50+ MPH wind, judgment played a big roll for me, as I spent very little time actually in the middle.

Experiment! You will need to get the courage to try different things. The other day I was frustrated by my low FITA scores. While shooting, my pin would not sit. I had another sight and simply put a small black dotted scope on and the dot seemed to slow considerable. The fiber pin I had been shooting seemed to bleed out and I would go away from attending to it.

Last but not least, buy a note book! I use mine to put bow measurements in, plus changes I make. A typical entry would be… moved peep up to 73/4" and my pin sits better as I clear my release better, or increased draw to 281/8" to inside of loop and I'm seeing less movement..square'r shoulder. Now this may not seem like much, but if you've every needed to "go back to square one" you can confidently know where it's at. Or you can see the positive gains in your scores from your experiments.

Hope this helps you gather a few more points the next time on the range…Jim

OUR EXPERIENCE AT JOAD NATIONALS

BY ELIANA CLAPS (LEFT) - 11

What do I think about JOAD Nationals? I think it's a great learning experience for any archer, even if you are just watching. You get lots of competition and you meet people. You might even meet old archery friends like I did ! I think Nationals is a tournament you should do if you have a chance. It's a lot of fun!

TEAM ROUNDS: Team Rounds is a fun game at Nationals. Basically you're teamed up with two different archers. Each archer shoots 2 arrows on the same target quickly with good form. The rules are you cannot take out your arrow until you are at the shooting line. And you can't step over the waiting line until your teammate is done shooting and steps back over the waiting line. Your whole team must shoot their 2 arrows each before time runs out! Otherwise you lose points. You score your team's arrows the same way you would score them in a regular tournament. You shoot against other teams and whichever team has the highest score wins! It's all really fun once you do it!

QUALIFYING ROUNDS: The Qualifying Rounds are shot just like at any other tournament. We shot a total of 144 arrows over 2 days. Medals are awarded for the top three finishing archers. These rounds also determine who you will be shooting against in the Olympic Rounds.

OLYMPIC ROUNDS: The Olympic Rounds are the final stage in the JOAD National tournament. You are matched against other archers based upon where you finished in the qualifying round. The lowest finisher is matched against the highest finisher. The round is scored using the set system, just like they use in the Olympics. It was the first time I ever shot this way. It really was exciting and made it very important to be consistent. One bad arrow can make you lose a set! Whoever wins advances to face a different archer until the final two archers shoot for the gold.

OVERALL: The JOAD Nationals is fun and exciting for everyone. And if you win that's great, but winning is really just like icing on the cake! Have fun!!

BY ALEXA CLAPS (RIGHT) - 9

Shooting at the JOAD Nationals was fun, hard, and exciting. It was fun because I got to shoot in the Team Rounds, which I had never done before. People are cheering for you and you become better friends with the other archers when you get a chance to be on the same team.

I also had fun finally getting the chance to shoot against a lot of different archers in my class. Usually I'm just shooting against my sister! I met people from places like Michigan, Washington, Texas and Kansas. It was also fun to see my old coach and friends from Washington where we used to live.

The competition was hard because I was shooting against archers that were all older than I am. I felt a little nervous about that. It was a tough competition and I gave it my best shot though.

Most of all shooting at the Nationals was exciting. I had never shot at a National tournament before. Winning a Silver Medal in the team round was exciting. Shooting a one arrow off in the Olympic Round for the Bronze Medal was even more exciting. I came up short this time, but I'll be back next year to try to do my best again.

I would recommend going to the JOAD Nationals. Just shoot your best, have fun, and don't worry about your score!

Kids Page – JOAD Nationals in Des Moines

Vance Patrilla of Toddville, Iowa and the Waltonian Archers of Linn County, stated that ISAA was well represented by four participants and they brought home quite a few medals in the various rounds, two of them gold. One of the Juniorr Dream Team coaches complimented our kids on their ability and perhaps one of them will join Miranda Leek in the future.

Steff Bisinger

JOAD Outdoor Nationals were a great challenge. There were many variables that made shooting difficult. Firstly, we had the entire spectrum of weather from hot and humid to cool and damp. Secondly, we also had to contend with the everchanging wind. For me that was the greatest challenge. While other archers had most likely been shooting outdoors for years I had been shooting indoors at a shorter distance with a lighter bow. However, the wind was also a great equalizer as sudden gusts could mess up even the most experienced archer.

It seemed like Nationals was more than a tournament, it was also a social gathering. Nationals was a competition, yes, but it was more than that. Everyone who has been making waves or hopes to be doing so soon was there talking to the Dream Team coaches and other archers. In that respect it was much different from an NASP tournament. It was an entirely new experience for me, and one that I hope to repeat.

Marcus Draves & Carp Shooting

Marcus, age 12, shot his first carp with a bow this summer at Lake Odessa in Wapello. The Iowa Bow Fishing Association took him bow fishing in one of their boats, gave him a few pointers, and wham!!

Marcus shot at the V-shape in the water and landed this 41" carp that weighed 26 ½ pounds. He was then presented with the ISAA Big Fish Contest Award at the ISAA 3-D Championship in August.

Congratulations Marcus!!!

Ed “Pops” Rhode

(In Memory of Ed Rohde this Article from July 2001 Arrow Hound is being reprinted for your enjoyment.)

(This information was taken in part from an article written by Jerry Wells several years back & will be in quotation.)

Ed “Pops” Rohde

“Ed was born in Muscatine, Iowa on August 2, 1926 and is married to Janice. One of the comments Ed made to me recently (after approaching him numerous times for information for this article) was about his wife. He said he would have to give a lot of credit to his wife for his success in shooting because she never once complained about the time he spent on shooting and traveling to competitions. In fact, when she knew he had a competition coming up, she was the one that said, “Don’t you think you’d better get out there and practice?”

Ed made his first bow out of osage with a stainless steel handle and with that bow became the club champion. He then went to a bow made by Herters and since then he has been a staff shooter for Ben Pearson Archery for 15 years and also a staff shooter for Hoyt for more than 15 years.

Over the years Ed has competed in tournaments from New York to Florida to California. “Even though Ed feels age does make a difference in competition, he thinks experience makes up for some of it. As recently as 1982 Ed experienced his most memorable tournament. It was the last tournament of the season at the PAA Nationals and Ed defeated Pete Fontenoy by one point for the championship. With that win he became the first archer in PAA history to win every PAA sanctioned tournament held in one year. This included Las Vegas, Atlantic City, and the indoor and outdoor Nationals.”

A few of the other awards that Ed has won in the past were:

1963-1st Place at NAA National Target

1982-Won the big four Las Vegas-Atlantic City PAA Indoor & Outdoor Nationals and all PAA shoots that year.

1988-PAA Sportsman of the Year Award

1992-Karl Palmatier Award of Excellence

In addition to the above he has won well over 50 State titles, shot the first perfect animal round in NFAA, and has placed 1st Place in the Iowa Games for at least the past 11 years.

As Ed said, “I think Milt Clough and I are the two oldest guys in Iowa that are still shooting. I’ve been shooting for about 45 years. Besides archery, I love to hunt and fish.”

The following is quoted from Jerry Well’s article back in 1982 as told by Hugh Shaw (a very good friend of Ed's):

“When we arrived at the archery field in Ottumwa, Iowa in May, 1963, I certainly did not know what to expect as I had never attended an archery tournament before. Stan Warner, my traveling companion, assured me I would enjoy this outing as it was a beautiful spring day and everyone was eager to shoot some arrows.

As we approached the practice butts to warm up, I noticed an archer who bore the rugged good looks of a North Country lumberjack, a pair of arms and shoulders that displayed considerable strength, and a most congenial smile. The thing that impressed me most, however, was the amount of skill and accuracy with which he was shooting his practice arrows. When I inquired about this fellow, I was told that he was Ed Rohde from Muscatine, Iowa.

“Everybody knows Ed, he’s one of the better archers around.’ Well, I didn’t know Ed Rohde and little did I know that in the years ahead, we would become competitors, traveling partners, and very close friends.

As my interest in archery grew and I traveled to a number of archery tourneys, that man, Ed Rohde, became more familiar to me. He was always there and always doing a very fine job of precision shooting. The word was, ‘Rohde’s the man to beat’.

My first major trip with Ed took us to Detroit, Michigan to shoot in the Bear American Indoor Tourney at Cobo Hall. Traveling in the company of one of America’s top professional archers was a thrill of a lifetime for this amateur as I gleaned all of the archery knowledge I could from him. He was a master-who better to learn from?

In 1969 we traveled to Waukesha, Wisconsin, where Ed and I would go head to head for the first time. Now it was time to compete with the "Grand Old Man of Archery", something I had dreamed of for the past six years. The race was on for the next eleven years with Ed and me traveling throughout the United States to places all over the United States.

One morning in 1971 I was told about a club shoot over in Rock springs, Illinois.

'Let's go give it a try,' said Ed. So we did. When we walked into the archery lanes, the only person present was the proprietor and Ed asked where the shooters were.

"Over at the café having a cup of coffee," said the owner. Ed looked at me, gave me that rather lopsided smile of his and said, "Shaw, how would you like to have a5 point advantage?"

Of course I would, but how?

Well, we'll just walk into that café, look those guys straight in the eye and smile!

Man, you should have seen the looks on their faces, our technique really worked. We shot a 299 and 300 respectively. Those were fine fellows to shoot with and we have reminisced about them many times.

Another time we traveled to Des Moines, Iowa to participate in a club shoot. The ledge type release hadn't been around long but Ed was using it to perfection. As the tourney progressed, Ed was shooting quarter size groups in the center of the target. He just kept banging them in there. I mentioned to Ed that he should spread the groups out a little or he would "kiss" one out. Sure enough, he smashed one into the group and it ended up in the 4 ring. His most avid admirer bested him by that one single point! I couldn't let it pass and said, "I told you so!"

Ed just gave me that winning smile of his and said, "We'll find another tournament next week."

Ed and I loved archery and talked of little else on our trips. He once told me, "When you get ahead of someone, don't let up." He proved this often with his many fine displays of shooting, his numerous wins, and his consistent ranking among the top archers in the United States.

Although we lived and breathed archery, we also found time to hunt the quail and pheasants of the Iowa farmlands, trekked to the wilds of Canada to fish for northern pike and walleyes, and perched ourselves in a pine tree for hours hunting the majestic black bear. Were we successful? You bet! Ed seemed to experience a good deal of success at everything he tried because he gave it 110%. I went along for the ride and loved every minute of it.

The day will come when Ed will hang his bow on the all, his arrows will collect the dust of passing time, and he will reminisce about the many good years he enjoyed as a true American Sportsman. But whenever archers gather to remember earlier times and talk about the "Old Pops", you can bet the name Ed Rohde will be mentioned often.

In the twenty plus years that I have known Ed, I have never heard him condemn his equipment when he was shooting poorly, (which he did on rare occasions), not once utter an unkind word toward a fellow archer, or ever malign the sport he loves. Ed Rohde is a professional in every sense of the word, a gentleman, and most important, a lasting friend."

Tributes to Ed “Pops” Rohde

Tom Dorigati (Presley’s Outdoors)

“I'm so sorry to hear of Ed's passing. He was such a pleasure to shoot with. I think I last shot with him at an Iowa State Field tournament about 7 or 8 years ago? I know he whipped up on some of the younger FS Limited shooters that weekend. Always smiling, and never a bad word to say about anyone. He will be sorely missed.

At age 75+, he could still aim and hold steadier than almost anyone I ever knew! He loved "taking out" the younger shooters, especially when they were shooting release/compound and Ed was shooting compound/fingers! I enjoyed watching him shoot and enjoyed shooting with him even more.

One time when I shot Iowa's state field tournament (it's been awhile), a gang of us was sitting by Waverly's club-house watching a novelty shoot after the day's shooting had conclude. They had the novelty shoot set up out of the wind and were shooting ping pong balls off of a reversed fan. We were raving over Bernie Pellerite's new "Panic Master Bow Simulator" that had only recently come out. The guys were drawing back the Panic Master and aiming at the X-ring on an NFAA 5-spot target 20 yards away. Most of us were doing fine with it and were happy we were able to keep the laser dot within the confines of the entire X-ring; some others were holding well within the confines of the 5-ring and trying to figure out how those of us that were holding well within the confines of the X-ring were able to do it.

One guy, and I can't remember his name, asked Ed Rhode what he was smiling about, and if he wanted to try to see how well he could hold the laser dot on the target. Ed asked if he had the "fingers attachment" for it, which the person did have available. (Obviously, Ed knew about this product, haha) So, Ed proceeds to set the Panic Master up for fingers and for his draw length. The young guy said something about how tough it must be to hold solid with fingers since it was so hard to aim that way. Paps, just smiled at him and then pulled back the Panic Master and settled in...and held it, and held it, and held it...on the CROSS OF THE X...that dot was so rock solid we were all bug-eyed and couldn't believe it! By far, his hold was more solid than any of us! Ed did this 4 or 5 times, and each time the laser dot just swam around the CROSS OF THE X...some float, but very little. When he finished, the young man said, "How the heck did you do that?" Ed, giving us his famous smile, just said something like, "Well boys, it comes from many years of shooting with proper alignment and proper back tension." He made a lot of compound/release shooters, including me, realize just how humble we needed to become. I later heard that Ed had been having some health problems. Yet, he was able to hold that rock solid in spite of his health and age.

Don Chipman – Mason City, Ia.

“I shot a lot of PAA tournaments with Ed in the 70's. I have two books written by Bob Rhode (no relative to Ed) about the entire history of the PAA and Ed was never below the top ten in the country for the entire history of the organization. If you would like I will loan you these books to write an article for the Arrow Hound. I think it would be nice if you could write an article for the NFAA since he was such an inspiration to everybody in archery not only the state of Iowa but to all of the olher competitors. Tommy Thompson also was very active in the PAA and he can probably give you some information about Ed.

Barb Sharp – Norwalk, Ia.

“Ken & I shot with Ed at the Quad Cities Senior Olympics twelve years ago and he seemed like a true "Gentleman" and if he made a shot he didn't like, he just said, "Aw shucks!".

Richard Blew (Former ISAA member) – Oak Grove, Mo.

Truly the passing of an archery legend. I probably told you before, but I've been watching Ed Rohde shooting in his distinctive style since the early 60's. I don't believe he ever won an NFAA Outdoor National, although he would have ranked near the top many times; but he did win an NAA National Target championship in '63 I think. Ed was the first freestyle limited (FSL) shooter to shoot a perfect animal round in an NFAA Outdoor National, in '67 I believe. A great loss to Iowa (and US) archery's history, along with Doreen and many others.

Truly the passing of an archery legend. I began watching Ed Rohde shoot with his distinctive style in the early 60's. I was a so-so barebow shooter in my early 20's, studying a man who seemed to "lock in" and be "on form" whenever he stepped to the line. He won many state, regional, and professional titles, but I don't know if he ever won an NFAA Outdoor National. He did however win the 1963 NAA National Target championship in the Professional Division. He also shot the first perfect Animal Round in the Men's Freestyle [Limited] Division at the 1967 NFAA Outdoor National. That record stood for four years, but unfortunately, it has been lost to history with subsequent changes in shooting classification, and the NFAA target faces themselves. Ed Rohde's passing, along with Doreen and others, may close a chapter in the history of archery in Iowa and the nation.

Old Business

John Carlson – the board told me to hold off on the purchase of a TV/DVD for the Deer Classic Booth. Discussion was held on why we couldn't use the laptop for the DVD at the booth. Theory to not have to rent them from the Whitetail Classic, purchasing this equipment would save lots of funds down.

New Business

John Carlson – Stated the ISAA places $5000 into the youth scholarship fund and provides a $2000 donation to the NASP for the scholarships. However, He doesn't think we have enough money to fund it to that level. So he motions that we put $2000 into the NASP Scholarship Fund and $2000 for the Youth Scholarship fund. Discussions held on the amount of funding with the money left in the account. Discussion also stated arrow hound had to be completed for the rest of the year $750-800 every other month. Counter point that we haven't added the funds from this Field shoot. John Carlson asked if we had any scholarship applications, NO, was answered, then John Carlson revises his motion to: We donate $2000 to the NASP Scholarship ONLY. Discussion held on were else money was needed in the organization: Bonding fees, Target butts fixed, equipment upkeep. Question was raised to wait could the funding of the programs wait till after the Pro-Am. To see what the other shoots bring in for monies. John Carlson withdraws his motion. Question was also raised why funds were so low, answers were sponsorship was down and higher payouts were the main reasons.

Don Chipman makes a statement to move the Arrow Hound be published every third or fourth month. That would save $750-800 per publishing. Discussion were held on the adds inside the AH only brings in $635 per year. Comments were stated the AH didn't have a big enough readership to pull in the bigger advertisers. Discussion tabled till the Sept board meeting. Ron also suggested we only publish Jan thru August.

Membership preference for shoot dates for 2010.
Indoor 25-27 Feb 2011

NASP will be running a booth at the State Fair. 12 – 22 August 2010 need help to run. Get in touch with Ben Berka DNR shooting sports director (515) 313-8048

Question was raised why we couldn't break out the cubs and youth and young adult classes like the adult classes. It was stated that the adult classes had a bowhunter with fixed pins, Bowhunter unlimited, and open classes. Norm Swank says he didn't have a lot to with that, as a state we have to follow NFAA rules. In past years there has not been a lot of support in the cubs, youth, and young adult. However if you feel strongly about it you should write a letter to the Iowa State Director Norm Swank, Regional Director Ray Jones, or the NFAA Headquarters. That is the reason I was asked to get Birthdays on the Membership form for the NFAA to poll how many youth and younger shooters.

Question was asked why isn't the Marked 3D counted more than one point. Discussion was held as to how to make this shoot worth more points or count the scores from the shoot. However if the Marked 3D wasn't successful then it would be taken out of the schedule or we could vote it back in if we so desired. We can also move it to a better place in the season if needed. So this discussion will be addressed at the fall meeting in Sept 19, 2010 at the Convention Center in Des Moines Iowa. John Shappell gives out awards.
Nomination to adjourn by Ross Bretsch and Seconded by Don Chipman. Motion carries.
